

WOODROW WILSON

1945

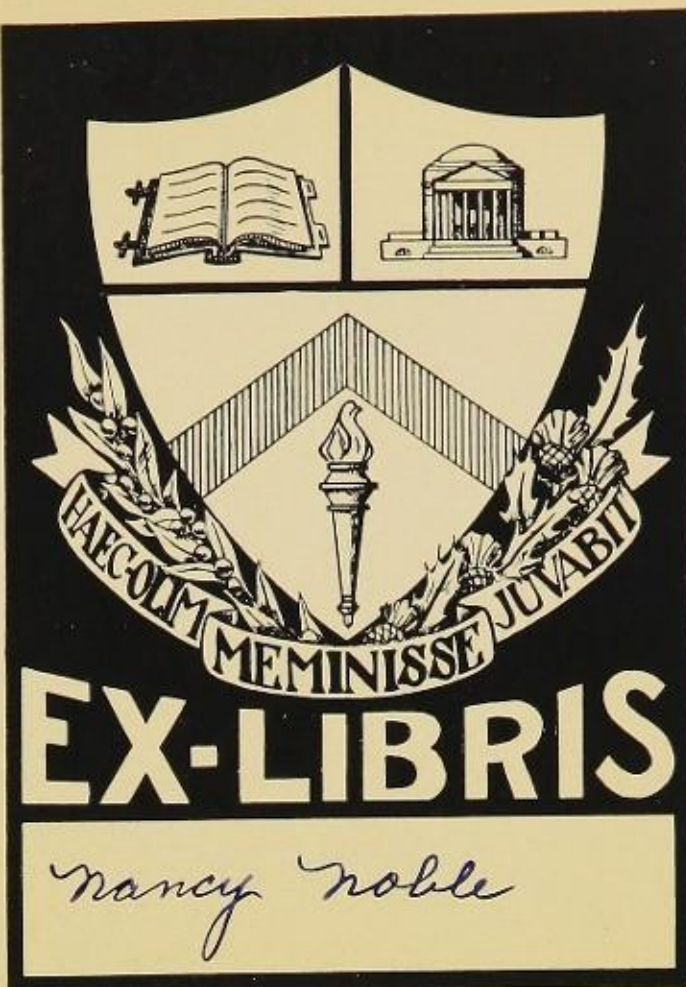

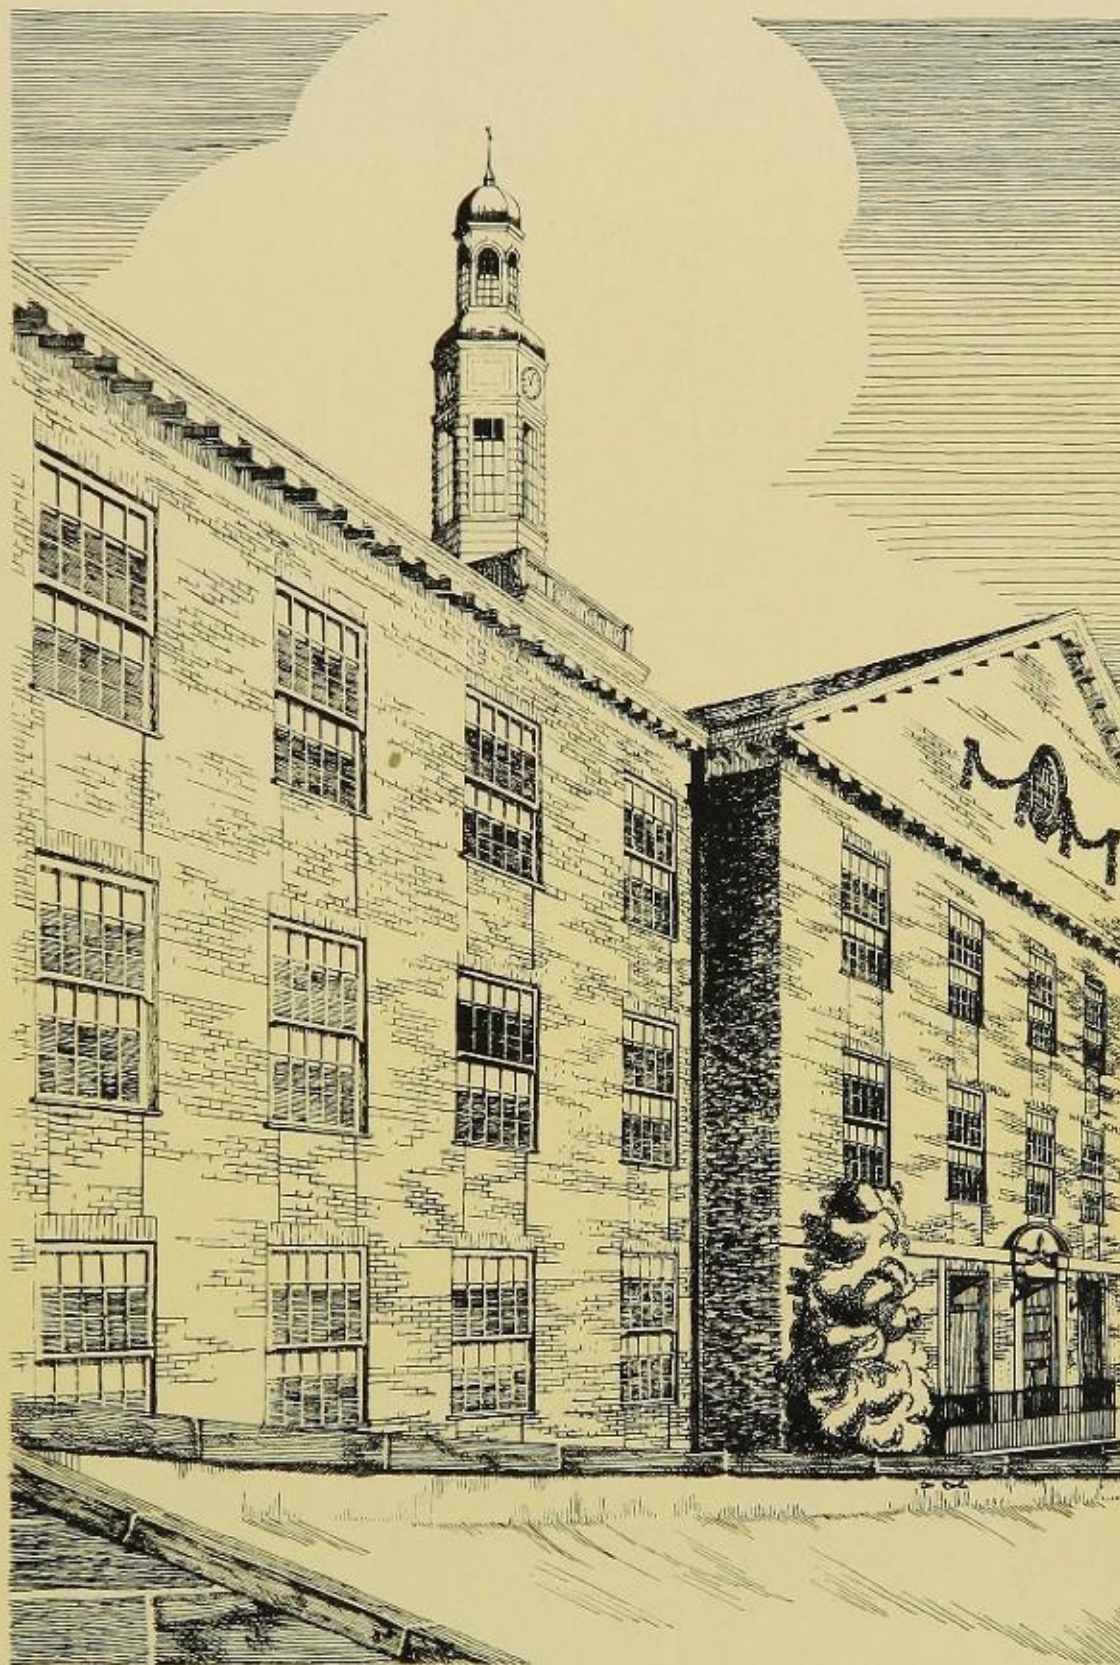

Copyright, June, 1945

PAUL W. REED and EUNICE TORLINSKI, Editors

MILTON SCHLESINGER, Business Manager

Although this book appears smaller than previous editions of the "Woodrow Wilson," it is only because of the lighter weight paper being used and not because of any reduction in the number of pages or in material therein. Government restrictions in the manufacture of paper made it necessary for the lighter weight paper to be used.

Ship of Democracy

Sail, sail thy best, ship of Democracy,
Of value is thy freight, 'tis not the Present only,
The Past is also stored in thee,
Thou holdest not the venture of thyself, not of the Western Continent alone,
Earth's resume entire floats on thy keel, O ship, is steadied by thy spars,
With thee Time voyages in trust, the antecedent nations sink or swim with thee,
With all their ancient struggles, martyrs, heroes, epics,
wars, thou bear'st the other continents.
Theirs, theirs as much as thine, the destination-port triumphant;
Steer then with good strong hand and wary eye, O
helmsman, thou carriest great companions,
Venerable priestly Asia sails this day with thee.
And royal, feudal Europe sails with thee.

Foreword

WE, the graduating class of 1945, must set out into this uncertain and changing world at war, prepared physically and mentally to determine our careers to the best advantage for ourselves and our nation. War places us and our personal hopes at the mercy of forces beyond our control as far as planning is concerned. If we are to go through this war with courage, we must keep our purposes clear.

Our life here at Woodrow Wilson has been a preparation for complete living, an effort to make us understand and appreciate our great heritage. We must continue what has been so auspiciously begun and restore a just and righteous peace to the world, guided by the inspiration and courage of true education and by the democratic spirit which is Americanism.

Dedicated . . .

To America, so simple, yet so justly proud a symbol of might and right—

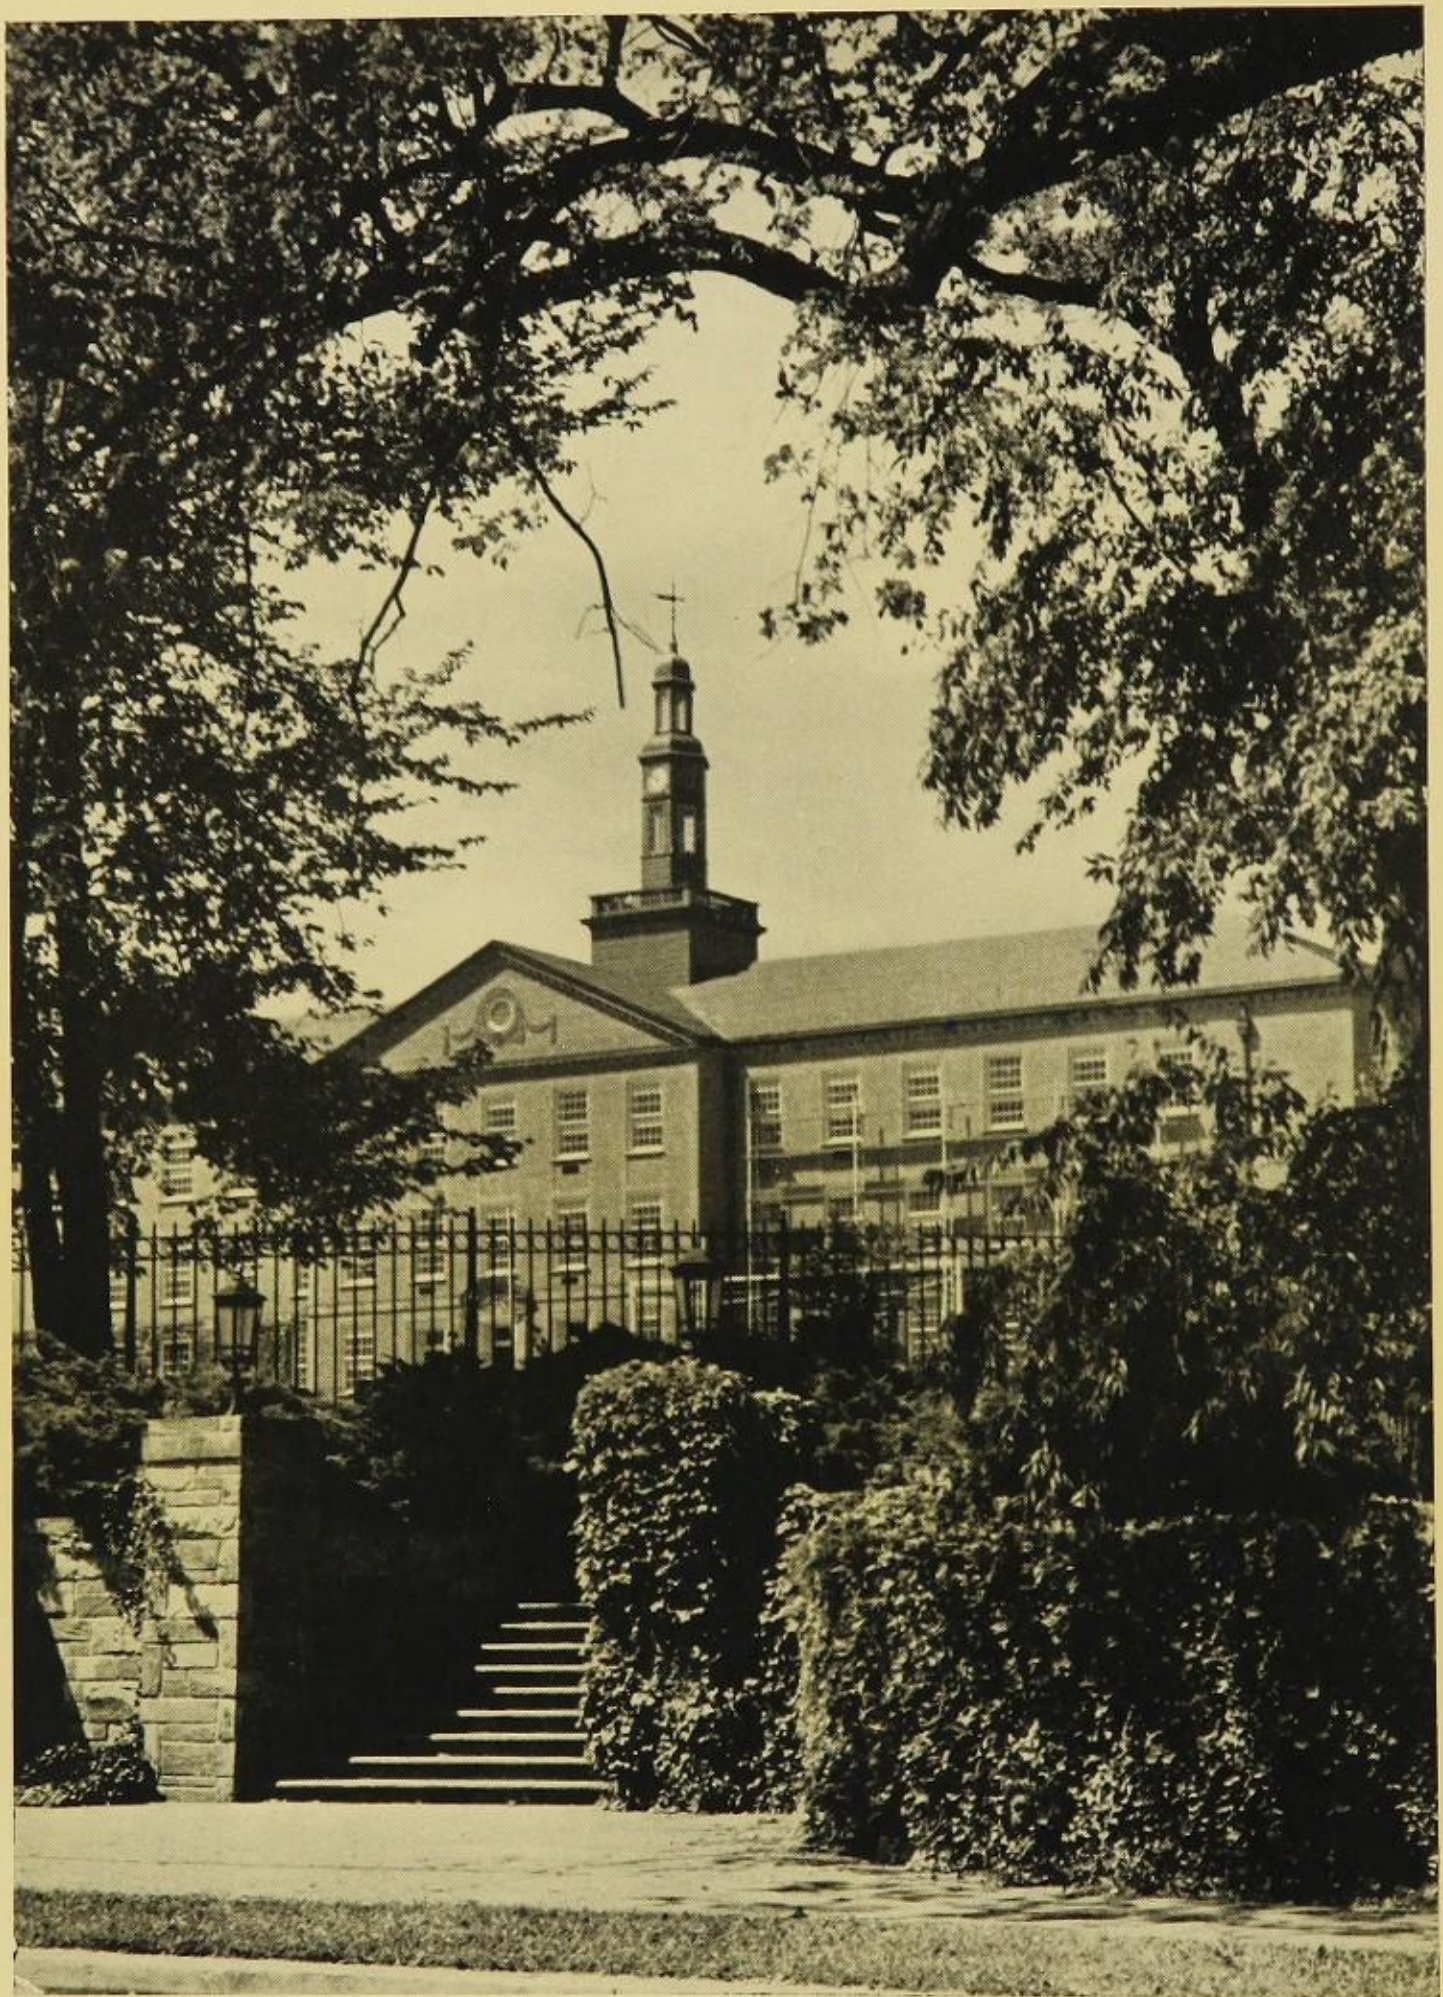

To our youth, who are struggling valiantly each day, each hour, on many battlefields for the peace that must save mankind, inspiring us, always strengthening our faith that life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness can and will survive—

And to that flame of learning ignited by our childhood curiosity, fed through the years on knowledge from the printed page and daily experiences, fanned ever brighter during our life at Woodrow Wilson—the flame that will burn with increasing intensity to illumine the path of the future.

Happy is the warrior who gives his life in a just cause, because those who die after a long life of struggle may be to the end harassed by doubts about the success of their efforts;
but the soldier who has done his duty knows that his death,
though a misfortune, can never be a failure.

ADMINISTRATION

"They also serve"—how aptly phrased to describe those who instruct and guide us, yet that does not reveal the painting as a whole. The delicate shading of patience and understanding, the warm sunshine of friendliness—these unite to produce the masterpiece that is exhibited for our benefit by the faculty.

SENIORS

With a feeling of pride, tinged with that inevitable sadness of parting, Wilson lifts her hand in the familiar gesture of farewell. Taking with us no little part of Wilson, we seniors have much to remember, a richness of experience never to be repeated or equalled. To all of us there comes an awareness of the importance in our lives of the years spent here.

UNDERGRADUATES

On the undergraduates will fall the responsibility of carrying on our school's great tradition. These students are Wilson's laughter and her blues, her jive-kittens and hepcats, her moccasins and identification bracelets, her merry-makers and her brains—all these and more. For this unnamed and unrecognized multitude is Wilson's heart, her student body.

The Story of the Year

War Bond Booth

The last few days of the summer vacation sped by, and in no time at all it was September 18, time to start back to school. Regretful as we were to have to return, we soon found out how wonderful it was to see all our old friends again and to renew the ties which had been strengthening through all these school years. We were proud to return as seniors, who at the end of the year would receive our diplomas and depart never to return again. It gave us all a hollow feeling inside, but such thoughts were obliterated by the traditional confusion of the first week, and before we knew it we were back into our old habits.

The first week was the usual chaos of credits, blue and white cards, and lost schedules. At the first assembly of the year we learned of the changes in the faculty and of the plans for the current year. Bewildered sophomores were acquainted with school traditions and procedures, athletic cards, cheers, and songs of Wilson. Soon these new students found themselves a part of the enthusiasm and spirit of Wilson.

September rolled along. A War Bond and Stamp Booth was established in the main corridor. The cadet officers were announced, and the Student Council was already planning for a full and eventful school year. Their first concern was the care of the two English war orphans, Joseph Smith, an eleven-year-old Maltese boy, and Maureen Harold, a three-year-old British subject, whom Wilson adopted last year. The first social of the year was the annual home-coming dance on Friday, September 22. The football team had long since been organized and was making a good show in the inter-high schedule.

Hazy October came and with it some important events of the year. A Sinatra sigh swept over an astonished and appreciative audience when "Rubin-off and his Violin" entertained the school in two assemblies on October 2. On his Stradivarius he held the school spellbound with "Dance of the Russian Peasants" and "Intermezzo." Les Sanders captured the presidency of the Student Council; the other officers were Bill Torrey, vice-president, Martha Ashby, secretary, and Norman Forrest, treasurer. The clubs were organized, and on October 5th and 6th dental hygienists inspected our teeth and eyes and issued the usual pink, white, and blue cards.

Cadet companies were formed and regular drills commenced. The Woodrow Wilson Talent Show practiced to give a performance at a local U. S. O. Forty-seven Wilson boys, carried away in two big G. I. trucks, left for Fort Myer on October 18 to take the Army physical examination.

These autumn days passed quickly with intervals of rousing pep assemblies, and before we knew it November was here. October 20 was the occasion of the first Friday Nite Club. At assemblies on October 26 and October 31 a presentation of the songs by Stephen Foster was given by the choir and glee clubs.

On November 8 came the Science Talent Award Assembly with Mr. and Mrs. Poirier, parents of the winner of the annual science award.

Appearing at Wilson for its third consecutive year, the Navy School of Music played in an all school assembly under the direction of Boatswain Ralph C. Mack on November 10. Among the more popular tunes played, "Swinging the Blues" was acclaimed by Wilson students, who demanded an encore.

On November 13 the National Honor Society held its first meeting of the year. The following officers were elected: Richard Bundy, President; Robert Stout, Vice-President; Secretary-Treasurer, Betty Arundell.

Wilson had the privilege of hearing Major General U. S. Grant, III, speak on the subject of postwar military training. Another officer, Lieutenant Colonel Parker, member of the first United States convoy to Australia, spoke on the value of war bonds at a special assembly on November 22.

Following the talk by Colonel Parker students returned to sections, and over the communication system Les Sanders reminded the student body of the history of Thanksgiving, and opened the annual Thanksgiving Day program. He was followed by Martha Ashby, who read from the Bible. The choral group, led by Mrs. Sanders, sang "Come Be Thankful." After Bill Torrey read the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation, the section presidents announced the amounts of money donated by their sections to the Community War Fund.

Winter had come, and with the ringing of the sleigh bells we realized it was already here. The choral classes and glee clubs gave a concert to contribute to the fund for a school organ on the evening of December 5. Bedecked in campaign ribbons, Technical Sergeant Jack Schulman recounted thrilling war stories of his three years in the South Pacific on December 15. That day also marked the end of the Sixth War Loan Drive. To help in the last call, station WRC sent Bill Herson and the Three Jacks to entertain the student body. The total purchase of the drive amounted to $70,112 in stamps and bonds. Then came those glorious, but all too short, Christmas vacations.

On the last day of school before the holidays all Wilson gathered for the traditional Christmas assembly. Amid the strains of carols, Mr. Nelson retold the Christmas story, while three tableaux represented the revelation to the shepherds, the search of the Wise Men, and the shepherds and Wise Men kneeling in adoration of the Madonna and Child. Appropriate music was supplied by the members of choir and glee clubs. The whole audience was impressed by the beauty and solemnity of the occasion. The Santa Swing on December 20 concluded the socials of 1944.

The year 1945 had arrived before we made our New Year's resolutions. The first assembly of the year was a great success with Father Gilbert Hartke of the Speech and Drama Department of Catholic University as guest speaker. He stressed the obligation of the community to present the drama as a fine art.

Braving the coldest day of the year, students and teachers alike went outside to see the versatile weasel, the Army's newest amphibious vehicle. The weasel has a ten inch flotation, a speed limit of twenty-five miles on land and four miles an hour on water and a six cylinder engine. On land it is steered by lever, and in the water by rudders. A few minutes after the demonstration, the First Combat Infantry Band played the classical "Finlandia," and the choir sang the Farewell Song of the Fiji Islands in the Fijian language. Dick Hyde, a former singer with Artie Shaw, made the gals swoon with "Night and Day." January 24 was the day on which twenty-five new members were elected to the National Honor Society in a special assembly.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance on January 19 provided each girl with the chance to do what she had been waiting for—to ask her dream man to go with her to a dance.

February 1 was the fatal day of graduation for ninety-six seniors. The senior class officers, with Kirk Fowler presiding, had charge of the opening exercises. Walter Hartley, salutatorian, gave the opening address, followed by special choral selections by the choir. Dr. Gannon of the Board of Education addressed the graduating class. The valedictory was delivered by William Bryan. After Mr. Nelson made the announcements, the diplomas were distributed. We said our last farewells to our friends as they departed from their Alma Mater for the final time. Honoring the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, "The Lincoln Cantata" was given at an assembly on February 12.

Three new sections of the Deal graduating class joined our ranks at the beginning of the new semester. The track and baseball prospects for the coming season appeared good, with practice commencing in February. In the Student Council elections the old officers remained, with Mary Anne Raywid taking Martha Ashby's place as secretary. February 16 marked the date of another successful Friday Nite Club.

One of the most warmly received assemblies given at Wilson was that when the Talent Show presented an entertaining musical program; Peggy Keyes sang some popular numbers; Pat Bogan, Julia Stimson, and Mary Fuller danced the Dance of the Furies; and Irene Farber and David Floden gave instrumental solos.

March began with all Wilson's green Irish lads and lassies turning out for the annual Country Fair. Coke stands, candy and cookie booths, dart and shooting games, magic shows, auctions, portraits, fish ponds, and movies were all part of the fair. Among the unusual attractions were the slave market where male beauties were sold, the gypsy fortune tellers, the hillbilly dancers, and the free dancing in the gym. The purpose of the fair was to raise money for the support of our two English orphans and with the possibility of adopting a French one.

April brought Easter and an appropriate vacation, but paramount in everyone's mind was "Junior Miss," this year's spring play.

May Day

Cadets occupied the last months of school with the regimental, battalion, and company drills uppermost on the program. The yells and cheers had scarcely ceased when we realized that school was almost over. The crowning of the May Queen was a further indication that graduation time was near. The last few weeks found us busy with preparations for graduation. When we danced our last dance as Wilsonites, it was hard to realize that we had finished three years of high school and were about to go into a cold and unknown world. But with each of us is stored a share of fond memories, and we shall leave guided by the spirit of true education.

ORGANIZATIONS

Our life here at Wilson is not confined within the limit of the classroom. It extends into our games, into our clubs, and into our drills. Here are presented the opportunities to become acquainted with each other, to exchange ideas and opinions, and to attain the high standard of complete living for which we are striving.

Aviation Club

The objectives of the Aviation Club are to foster an interest in aviation in general; to assist students to a better understanding of the social significance of the airplane in war and in peace; and to provide a background for participation in the development of private, commercial, and military flying. To help realize such interest and participation the Aviation Club is working for a trainer airplane for the Wilson students.

“Junior Miss”

Each year the Woodrow Wilson Players present their traditional spring play. This year's production was "Junior Miss," a rollicking, riotous comedy about a fourteen-year-old girl in the throes of adolescence.

Judy, definitely under the influence of the movie world, succeeds in managing the lives of her family and their friends until everything is out of control. The many complications caused by her mismanagement and Judy's unusual solution of them provide the high points of "Junior Miss."

This Broadway hit is adapted from a sketch by Sally Benson originally published in the New Yorker and later in book form.

In place of the usual two casts, the Players' 1945 production was given by three casts, each playing its individual performance.

The keynote of the '44-'45 Woodrow Wilson High School Cadet Corps has been in keeping with the present turn of events. Stated simply, the Sixth Regiment this year has attempted to equip its enlisted personnel with practical experience in military skills and tactics. Wilson's sons and daughters are in every corner of the globe, fighting to preserve our liberty and the spirit which is Americanism. The officers and men are striving for true education and esprit de corps—accuracy, dependability, efficiency, and loyalty.

Football

WILSON—21 — FAIRFAX—0

Unleashing a lightning scoring punch in the first period, Wilson's gridiron team downed the Fairfax Rebels by a 21-0 count on September 22 at Fairfax. The Tigers tallied 15 markers in the initial quarter on 70- and 30-yard touchdown runs by Pearce "Sleepy" Godfrey, an extra point by Bill Fain, and a safety. The remaining 6 points came in the third period when Gene Taylor scored on a 15 yard run.

WILSON—8 — TECH—6

Wilson won its opening inter-high game on September 29, when it squeezed out an 8-6 victory over Tech in the Tigers' stadium. The Green and White got off to a good start by registering a safety in the first period, but the Trainers, scoring a touchdown in the second stanza, held a 6-2 halftime lead. However, "Sleepy" Godfrey scored a six-pointer on a line plunge in the final quarter to give Wilson the victory.

EASTERN—20 — WILSON—14

By scoring two last-minute touchdowns, Eastern handed Wilson its first loss of the season on October 7, in the loser's stadium. The Ramblers tallied seven markers early in the opening quarter, but the Tigers tied things up just before the half on a Gene Taylor-to-Tom McLarney touchdown pass, with Taylor booting the extra-point. Wilson scored on the first play of the third period when Josh Dorsey scooped up an Eastern fumble and raced 40 yards for another six-pointer, with Taylor again converting. But Eastern rang up 13 points in the final minute of play to win the thrilling game by a 20-14 margin.

WILSON—8 — WASHINGTON-LEE—0

Although they were held scoreless for three periods, Wilson's gridiron team rallied to beat Washington-Lee on October 13 by an 8-0 score on the Little Generals' field. Wilson broke the scoreless deadlock in the last quarter when "Sleepy" Godfrey tossed a short touchdown pass to Tom McLarney, and several minutes later the Tigers added a safety to their score.

WILSON—0 — ANACOSTIA—0

On October 23 Wilson and Anacostia played a scoreless tie on the Indians' gridiron. The Flatsmen presented the most serious scoring threat when they penetrated to Wilson's 19 in the last period, but here their offense bogged down. Penalties stopped most of Wilson's drives into Anacostia territory, the Green and White never getting inside of the Indians' 30.

WILSON—27 — ROOSEVELT—6

After Roosevelt had scored a first quarter touchdown, Wilson's Tigers roared back to whip the Rough Riders 27-6 on November 3 in the Tigers' stadium. In the second period Walt Shoemaker crashed center for one touchdown, and Les Sanders caught a 49-yard pass from "Sleepy" Godfrey for another six-pointer, with Gene Taylor kicking both conversions. Sanders tallied again in the third stanza when he raced 35 yards with a blocked kick. The final touchdown came in the last period when Dud De Groot tossed a 29-yard pass to Rufus Webb, and Taylor again converted.

CENTRAL—19 — WILSON—13

Central scored three fourth-period touchdowns in Wilson's stadium on October 27, to win a thrilling 19-13 game. In the second quarter "Sleepy" Godfrey tossed a 22-yard touchdown pass to Tom McLarney, and Gene Taylor converted to give the Tigers a 7-0 half-time lead. The Vikings counted on the opening play of the final frame, and with two minutes of playing time left, they scored again, failing both times to get the extra-point. The Green and White then gained a brief 13-12 lead on a pass from Godfrey to McLarney, who lateralled to Dud De Groot, who scampered 25 yards for the tally. However, Central came back to score again just before the final whistle blew.

WESTERN—14 — WILSON—13

Wilson piled up an early 13-0 lead against Western on November 10 at Central's stadium, but the Tigers were unable to hold the Red Raiders' potent attack in check, and lost a close 14-13 contest to the Georgetown boys. The Green and White tallied on the fifth play of the game when Bob Henry smashed through center from the one-yard line. Eight plays later Wilson scored again as Mel Sandmeyer scooped up a blocked Western punt on the Raiders' 25 and went for a six-pointer. Gene Taylor's conversion made the score 13-0 in the Tigers' favor. Midway in the second period the Raiders tallied a touchdown and conversion and then Western won the game in the final quarter with a second six-pointer and conversion.

WILSON—19 — COOLIDGE—19

November 17 brought to a close Wilson's 1944 football season with an under-dog Coolidge eleven holding the Green and White to a 19-19 tie in the Tigers' stadium. After the Colts registered a touchdown and extra-point in the initial quarter, Dud De Groot plunged through center for Wilson in the second period. Late in the same quarter Coolidge tallied again to hold a 13-6 lead as the half ended. The Tigers scored in the third stanza on a 5-yard off-tackle smash by De Groot, but the Colts also tallied late in the same frame. The Green and White tied things up early in the fourth quarter on a 35-yard pass from Gene Taylor to De Groot and Taylor's subsequent conversion.

Basketball

Wilson's basketball team got off to a good start in interhigh competition by edging Coolidge on January 5, by a 24-22 score in Tech's gym. The Colts put on a thrilling last period drive which threatened to wipe out the Tiger's lead, but a last-minute goal by Tom McLarney and Bob Hogue's charity toss preserved Wilson's lead. After holding a 14-6 advantage as the half ended, the Green and White were able to ring the bell for only 4 markers in the third round and 6 in the final stanza as the Colt defense tightened up. Les Sanders and McLarney were Wilson's high scorers, as they got 7 and 6 markers respectively.

WILSON—25 — WESTERN—22

Although Western led 6-5 as the first period ended, the fast flying Tiger quintet defeated the Raiders 25-22 on January 12, at Tech. Josh Dorsey, Tom McLarney, and Gene Taylor began to find the range in the second stanza, and Wilson held a 17-14 lead at half-time. The Green and White battled Western on even terms the rest of the way, for both quints scored 5 markers in the third quarter and 3 in the last round. High scorers were Dorsey, McLarney, and Taylor, with 9, 6, and 5 markers in that order.

WILSON—37 — ANACOSTIA—14

Anacostia's winless Indians were routed by Wilson on January 20, by a 37-14 count on Tech's hardwood. After the Flatsmen held a 4-3 advantage midway in the initial period, the Tigers roared back to lead 11-6 as this quarter ended. From then on it was a breeze for the Green and White, as they led 18-6 at half time and 25-10 at the three-quarters mark. Gene Taylor, Les Sanders, and Frank Daley sparked the Tigers by scoring 12, 10, and 6 points respectively.

WILSON—45 — CENTRAL—24

After a close opening period, Wilson's Tigers began to click and rolled up a 45-24 score against the Central quint on January 26, at Tech. The score stood 5-5 at the end of the first frame, but Wilson, led by Gene Taylor, Sleepy Godfrey, and Tom McLarney, opened up in the second stanza to gain a 19-8 halftime lead. The Tiger barrage continued in the next quarter, as Wilson rang the bell for 19 points to hold a 38-18 advantage as the last period began. High scoring laurels went to Taylor, Godfrey and McLarney, who had 14, 12, and 11 tallies respectively.

TECH—47 — WILSON—21

Wilson's four game inter-high winning streak was brought to an abrupt halt on Friday, February 2, by Tech, who took a 47-21 decision in its own gym. The Tigers were behind from the outset as the Maroons grabbed a 16-5 lead in the first quarter. The Trainers built up a 22-11 advantage as the half ended, and led by a 40-16 count at the three-quarters mark. Tom McLarney and Gene Taylor, with 8 and 6 tallies respectively, were top Tiger scorers.

EASTERN—35 — WILSON—28

Eastern handed the Tigers their second consecutive interhigh loss on February 9, by taking a hard-fought 35-28 contest at Tech. The Ramblers led 7-5 at the end of the first quarter, and held a 13-12 half-time advantage. As the third period ended, Eastern had a 22-20 lead, but midway in the final frame the Green and White tied things up at 26-26. However, the Ramblers hit the cords for 9 rapid points, which decided the game. Until the fourth period, there was never more than a two-point margin separating the teams. Tom McLarney and Bob Polhamus were Wilson's big guns, with 8 and 7 markers respectively.

WILSON—24 — ROOSEVELT—23

An end was brought to the regular basketball season on February 16, when Wilson edged Roosevelt 24-23 on the Tigers' floor. The Green and White had to stave off a last period attack by the Rough Riders to win the game and wind up the season in third place behind Eastern and Tech. Wilson led 13-9 at half-time, and 19-12 as the fourth quarter got under way. In this hectic final frame the Riders registered 11 points while holding the Tigers to five. Sleepy Godfrey and Les Sanders were Wilson's high scorers, as they hung up 11 and 6 tallies respectively.

WILSON—31 — EASTERN—33

With eight seconds of play left in the first overtime period, Eastern's stellar guard, Bob Lamon, sank a shot from midcourt to give the Ramblers a 33-31 game in the semi-finals of the interhigh championship playoffs. Played at Tech on Tuesday, February 20, the contest was a thriller all the way. The Ramblers got off to an early 4-0 lead, but the Tigers rallied and the first period ended with the count 6-5 against Wilson. However, at half-time the score stood at 15-15. The Green and White, led by Gene Taylor and Bob Polhamus, garnered 14 tallies in the third frame to hold a 29-25 advantage as the final quarter commenced. Here the Rambler defense stiffened and the Tigers were held to a pair of foul tosses while Eastern registered 6 markers to tie things up at 31-31. Then came the extra period, in which Lamon made the game-winning goal. Sleepy Godfrey and Tom McLarney were Wilson's high scorers with 7 points apiece.

NON-SERIES GAMES

In outside games on the regular schedule, Wilson's Tigers won five out of eight contests. The Green and White got off to a good start on January 2, by routing the Anthony's five by a 42-14 margin on Wilson's floor. A week later the Tigers downed Washington-Lee 41-33, but seven days later George Washington High handed Wilson their first loss of the season by a 31-24 score.

The Green and White bounced back, however, to rout St. Albans 45-23 on January 23, and continued their winning ways by edging Washington-Lee 39-34 a week later. Once again George Washington snapped the Tigers' winning streak by taking a 36-30 game on February 6.

After losing to Woodberry Forest by a 56-30 margin four days later, Wilson wound up the season with a 47-19 win over St. Anthony's on February 13.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Junior Varsity Basketball

Wilson's Junior Varsity Basketball team turned in an impressive record by winning eight out of nine games. Coached at the beginning of the year by Mr. Kligman, the Jayvees wound up the season under Mr. Dwyer's guidance, as Mr. Kligman went into the Merchant Marines during mid-season. Dick Pogue, Arthur Scribner, Alan Fitch, Lefty Schaub, and Bob Leonard composed the first team.

In winning eight games, the Junior Tigers rolled up 339 points for a 37.7 average per contest, while the opposition was held to 163 tallies for an average of 18.1 markers per game.

Tennis

Bob Silverthorn is the only letterman returning to Wilson's 1945 tennis team. Other boys will be selected for the team depending upon the outcome of the round-robin tournament, which, at this writing, is incomplete. The most promising looking boys, besides Bob, are Howland Fisk, Curt Barker, Jerry Thomas, and Bob Shepard.

Baseball

Seven lettermen are returning to form a nucleus for Wilson's 1945 baseball team, which also has several boys from last year's squad. However, two monogram bearers and one veteran were unable to play during the first part of the season due to scholastic troubles.

Rufus Webb and Josh Dorsey, both letter winners, are the best pitchers, but Dud DeGroot, Tommy Evans, and George "Por" Conant are also talented moundsmen. Tom McLarney, first-string catcher last year, was one of the ineligible, so Pearce Godfrey, an outfielder last season, took over the catching duties. Stu Terrett and Bill Fain are among the other capable backstops.

Stan Harris, who injured his back last year but who won a monogram as score-keeper, and John Murray are the top candidates for first base. Among the other boys out for infield berths are lettermen Bill Torrey and the ineligible Gene Taylor, veteran Bob Polhamus, who is also ineligible, and Bill Kiehl, Jimmy Hedrick, and Rem Lane.

Candidates for outfield positions include monogram winner Al Fitch, Bob Loanard, Joe Smith, "Buddy" Whittlesey, and "Hardy" Hardison.

Track

Hopes for Wilson's third consecutive track championship rest mainly upon the shoulders of five lettermen and numerous boys from last year's squad. Under the watchful eyes of Mr. Bunsa and Mr. Bristor, head and assistant coaches respectively, the thinclads began training for the season in mid-February.

The Tigers appear well fortified in the 100- and 220-yard dashes, as Jack O'Brien, Lee Roberts, Arthur Bonner, Roy Jenkins, and Jimmy Vail are all back from last year, while newcomers Osmun Barr, Jimmy Phillips, and Dick Hildreth have shown much talent. Bill Price and Bill King are the only veteran quarter-milers, with Paul Ostrye and Bob Hall being outstanding newcomers. Last year's half-milers include Bob Hoyt, Monte Morgan, and Norman Forrest, while Jimmy Low and Don Diebly rank as the top non-veterans. Experienced boys in the mile run include Bob Gregory, Brad Houser, Bill Landon, Max Vogel and "Spike" Wood. Letterman Les Sanders leads the way in both hurdle events with Lewis Jamison and Les Rushbrook, both veterans from last year, running the high and low hurdles respectively.

Letter-winner Johnny Colvin is the defending inter-high champion in the pole vault and high jump, in addition to being the runnerup last year in the broad jump. Other pole vaulters include letterman Billy Crouch, Wilber Gallahan, Brad Houser, Lewis Jamison, and "Spike" Wood, all from last year's squad, and newcomer Tom Wood. Colvin, Crouch, Gallahan, and the Wood brothers are the high jumpers, and Colvin and Jack O'Brien are top contenders for the broad jump.

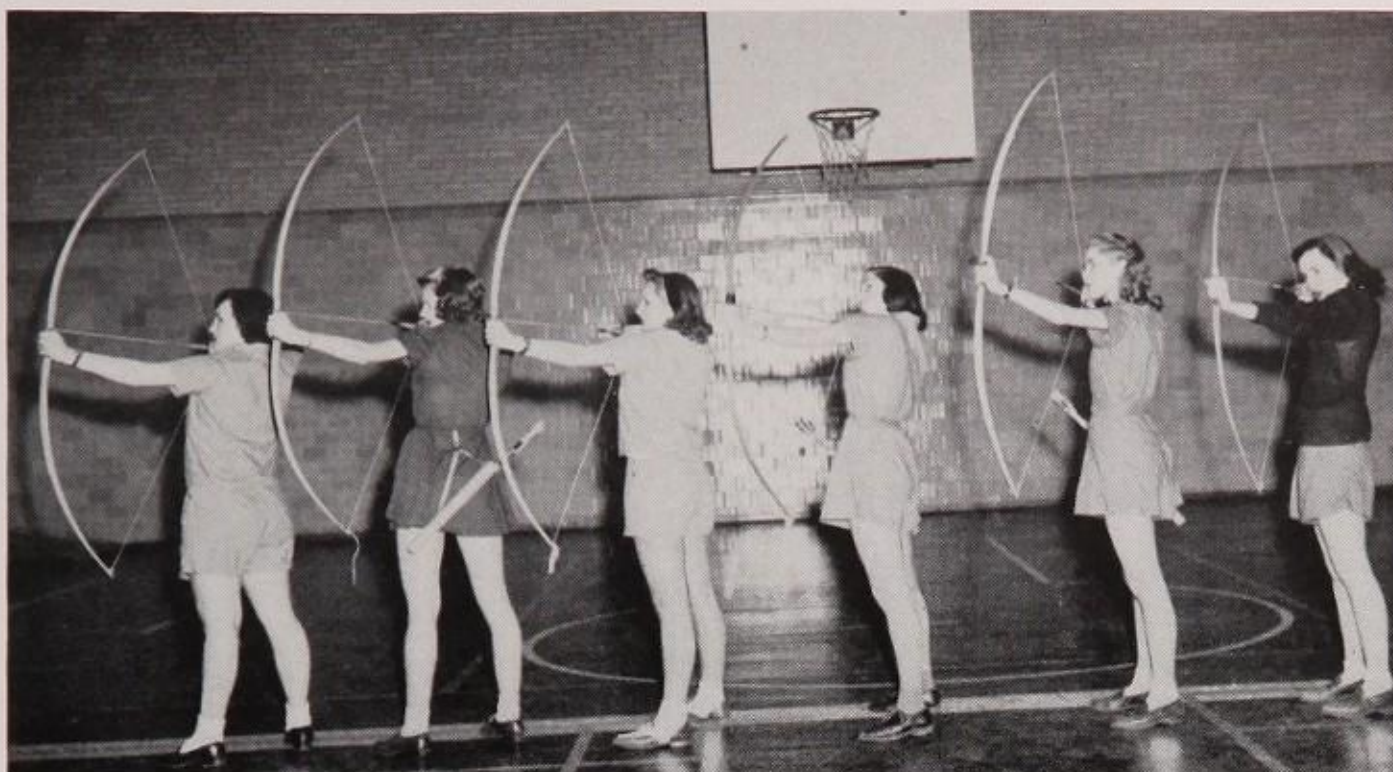

Monogram bearers Roger Blatter and Stan First, veteran Bob Lappin, and newcomer Albert Mercker throw the discus and do the shot putting.

Managers of this year's track team are Pardoe Prescott and Bob Poore.

Archery

Zing!

"Hey you there on the bank! You'd better duck." That's the way the archery tournament began. Every Tuesday and Thursday morning the girls would come out on the field and shoot through fog, dew, and sometimes—clear weather. The tournament lasted for two months, and the girls were glad that in the end everybody could at least hit the target.

The following girls received letters:

Alice De Groot

Jessie Godfrey

Pat Ludwig

Kitty Foster

Fall Tennis Tournament

The tennis singles tournament in the fall of 1944 proved to be a success. Both experienced and inexperienced girls played at the Friends and Lafayette courts with Mrs. Steis as adviser. Lester Dessez and Connie Little played in the finals of the tournament. Both are excellent players. As winner, Connie Little received a letter.

Hockey

The sticks clashed, and the pucks rolled with greater power this fall. Almost twice as many girls reported to the hockey tournament this year as last autumn. Since most of them had learned the techniques and developed a skill in gym classes, the result was plenty of action.

Letters were awarded to these outstanding players:

Betty Bennett
Roberta Bridgman
Mary Cragoe
Alice De Groot

Kitty Foster
Peggy Fox
Jessie Godfrey
Janet Hartley

Sue Reed
Barbara Termohlen
Margaret Thomson
Martha Waldron

Speedball

A new sport has been added. Speedball was received this year with great enthusiasm. This is the first time it has been taught and also our first speedball tournament.

About seventy girls went out for the tournament, and all of them turned in excellent performances. In fact, they were so good that it was difficult to choose those to be awarded letters. Senior V, captained by Sally Reed, won the tournament.

The following outstanding players received letters:

Martha Ashby
Nancy Cochran
Kathryn Dex
Anne Edwards
Inegert Greger

Gwendolyn Gwynn
Betty Hildabrand
Cynthia Kirk
Nancy Munsell

Betty Powers (manager)

SPEEDBALL LETTER GROUP

Badminton

"Who has the birdie?" was the constant call heard in the gym during the badminton tournament. This tournament was made up of a series of singles games, with the winner of one game playing the winner of another. Finally all were eliminated except Betty Burr Nelson and Denise Lambert. It was a hard fight, with Denise emerging the victor.

Basketball

There was a fine turnout for the basketball tournament. About 270 girls formed thirty teams and section 219, with Georgeanna Meuth as captain, won the tournament. There were no conciliation games and if a team lost once, it was out of the tournament.

Members of the W. W. A. C. acted as day managers, umpires, time keepers and score keepers.

It was a wonderful season ending in a play day with Western, and we hope that all the girls will come out for it next year.

Volleyball

This year the volleyball tournament was probably one of the shortest ones on record, exactly five days. The supervisor was Mrs. Steis, and members of the W.W.A.C. acted as referees and score-keepers. About one hundred girls came out for this tournament. The winning team, led by Jane Stouffer, was Princeton 6, Section 328.

ALUMNI

Wilson's sons and daughters have exchanged the daily routine of classes for the hourly schedule of battles both domestic and foreign. We are proud of them and have right to be, for they have taken with them to the four corners of the globe part of the spirit of Wilson—the culmination of a true and complete education for living.

Wilson Fantasies

Just because you came in a little late, Hugo, I suppose you'll want to go down and get a tardy slip. Oh, Hugo, what's ten minutes out of a lifetime? No, I simply won't let you go. It would be ridiculous for you to climb all those stairs for nothing. Hugo! Come back! It's no use anyway. There isn't one tardy study hall available. You might just as well come right back here and sit down.

Elmer, it has occurred to me that I see you in my algebra class every single day. Don't you ever get hungry, eating fifth lunch period the way you do? Why don't you take a few days off? You won't miss anything worth learning and then you could eat lunch early and go out and lie on the grass now that the weather's so lovely. Remember that now, Elmer. I don't want to see you in here for several days.

Latimer, are you chewing gum? What? You only wish you were? Oh, you poor boy! Haven't you been able to get any lately? You mean you haven't had any chewing gum for two days! Well, here. Have some of mine. No, that's all right, Latimer. Go ahead, have some. That's better. I, personally, have always been convinced that the classroom is the place for gum; calms the nerves and steadies the mind. Don't you ever sit there again starving for a piece of gum without telling me about it. Will anyone else have some?

All right, boys, sit down. I've got something I want to say. How about that game over at Strudwarden High the other day? That 75—2 score wasn't so hot, and I frankly don't think it was a fair game. Now, as coach of this team, I want to see to it that the next time you see any of those Strudwarden boys you go up and pick a fight as fast as you can. Not good sportsmanship? What are you talking about, Cuthbert? Don't be silly. How could it reflect on us? Didn't they cheat us out of that game?

Mr. Znaelym, you being the principal and everything, I thought I ought to come right to you. Must we have a half-day today? I mean, it's probably selfish of me to want to stay but I had counted on a big biology test today and—well, I would just be so disappointed if we didn't have it. The weather is nice? Oh yes, but what is there to do with an afternoon in warm weather? You certainly can't study and if you can't study—well! what can you do?

I don't want to seem impertinent or anything, Miss Nettlepink, but it seems to me that my grade should be changed. After all, this is the semester grade and since it's so important, I don't quite understand how you could give me the grade you did in American History. How could you possibly give me a B when you know perfectly well that it should be a C—probably a D to be truthful. What? You think that as long as I'm doing my best you might as well give me a good grade? Miss Nettlepink! I'm sorry but I'll have to refuse to take it. If neither of the principals will have it changed, I'll have to do it myself. I'll just have to change it on my report card so my parents won't think I'm doing well when I'm not.

A Dissertation on Dandelion Greens

While aimlessly conversing with me a fortn't or so ago, my good friend L*—, the Lion, happened to let slip the fact that he was quite well informed upon the origin of the use of dandelion greens as food. Seizing upon this veritable ration book of information, I beseeched him to sit down and enlighten me upon this subject. His relation is as follows:

"Once upon a time a happy bevy (or what-have-you) of lions lived on the beautiful island of Beri-Beri (all in natchural color). And it seems that among these lions there was one who was quite different from the rest. He was of that set known as vegetarians. His name was George Bernard Lion, but I'll call him Georgie, of course.

Well, all the other little lions would scamper and frisk to and fro, hunting for meat for their meals, but Georgie was content to just sit under a pretty tree and nibble at the grass.

One day while Georgie was chewing grass, he tasted something very different. It was so delicious he just had to roar a little sigh of delight. Georgie was determined to find out just what variety of grass it was, that tasted so fine, so he sat there under the tree all afternoon just tasting different kinds of grass. But when finally he rediscovered that taste, he found that it wasn't grass at all! It was just a jagged-edged plant, but he loved it, and from this day forward, this was his food.

Now pretty soon all of the other lions began to wonder just what Georgie's food had that their food didn't have, and so they asked George what he saw in his plant, and finally Georgie stated, "I eat my plant because it contains niacin, thiamin, and riboflavin! And besides, spelled backwards, my plant is ym tnalp!" And all the multitude of lions was awe-stricken, and they thought upon this wonderful food, and decided to formulate a 14-day Dandelion Plan by which they could try it, and, at the end of this trial period, if not completely satisfied they would go back to their meat, or, if satisfied, they would adopt the plant as their own. After trying it, they all loved it, and clicked their furry heels in rapture. And so it came to pass that this perennial became the food of the lions of Beri-Beri and so was called in their honor "Dandelion"—which is Berisian for "food-of-lions."

And now you're going to ask why lions don't eat dandelions now—well—that's another story.

The Dismal Dungeon

Tucked away in the more obscure corners of that massive edifice known as Wilson High School, stands, or rather was standing, a dark, dingy room known as the Yearbook Office. To the casual observer peering through the glass windows, the furnishings of this small den appeared simple enough. In the far corner rested one knot-hole desk so covered with such "valuable documents" as the following:

- 3 "Reason for Failure" notice (erased as if in doubt)
- 2 essays on "Why Burke Was a Great Planner" (Copied from Encyclopedia Britannica)
- 1 Unused Webster's Dictionary (Sticker pasted on cover to following effect: "Poison")
- 3 Pamphlets on subject "Why Teach?"
- 573  $\frac{2}{3}$  Miscellaneous papers in such disorder as to look like a hasty snow storm.

Other equipment consisted of three work tables decorated by the latest Varga calendars, one unlocked green cabinet (key used in the chemistry experiment on brass), several typewriters sad from disuse, and one movable file case (used to cover the holes in the floor).

The chief inhabitants of this queer cave was Miss Blank, erudite and learned adviser, whose mind was absorbed by the cultural development of her "customers" and "buzzards." Then there was Willer the Biller, famous for those one dollar overages and by that question "Have you ordered your Yearbook yet?" Euridyce, overcome by the prospects of Company D, made the four walls ring with laughter and drip with ink eradicator. Finally the last dangerous character, Paniard the Spaniard, whirled around in such haste as to spill the paste, lose things in that voluminous notebook, misplace keys, and confuse every one with a jibberish, unintelligible language.

The moral of the sad narration is: Never go to the Yearbook Office; if you must go, inform your undertaker.

You Can Carry the Bodies Out Anytime Now...

9:29—amidst clouds of dust, we burst into section—having burst into Blume earlier this mourning—. We are followed at 9:29½ by other individuals who enter—like us—as if jet-propelled. 9:30. The door swings to with a splat in the face of some Poor Unfortunate, who just came to a screeching halt outside.

9:31. Amidst sounds of snoring, and with someone—obviously impolite—interrupting our pursuit of homework by incoherent babbling over the address system—section period breezes by.

Comes first period. We totter into Chemistry. Roll is taken. Mr. Sid Smith's seat is vacant.

"Does anyone know anything about Mr. Smith?"

A voice from the rear answers, "Yes, he's absent."

Two separate voices are heard to answer upon the calling of Mr. Sam Snerd's name. Several snickers ascend.

The class begins—"Now students, before we start, I want to impress upon you the importance of Chemistry. This morning we will take up the oxygen family. The most important member of this family is oxygen. In order to understand the importance of this element, you must try to get along without it for five minutes. You will see oxygen in the periodic chart in front of you. It is blue in color. This means that it is a gas. By next class period, you must understand the significance of the circles, stars, colors, squares, open spaces, horizontal and vertical groups, on this chart. I will run over it once again. The vertical groups of the left side, colored black, . . ."

Once in a while, during a lull, we hear a voice say, "Do you understand this; do you see that?" Of course we do; how could we help but understand?

"For homework study chapters 6, 7, 8, 10, 18, and 20 for a brief quiz. Tomorrow John Calvin will perform the experiment on the halogens for the class. With this family, you remember, if you make one slip, you aren't around to make another." (Chuckle, chuckle.)

The bell rings merrily, and the class leaves with the air of a group of reprieved criminals—friends supporting the shaking Mr. Calvin.

Four minutes later, we re-congregate. We are now seated as far to the back of the Spanish class as we can get.

"Buenos dias, muchachos!" yaps la profesora.

This is followed by "Same to you, kid," which is followed by "Snappy comeback," delivered in bitter tones, with the wail of violins in the background.

"Vamos a abrir los libros a la pagina ciento ochenta y dos."

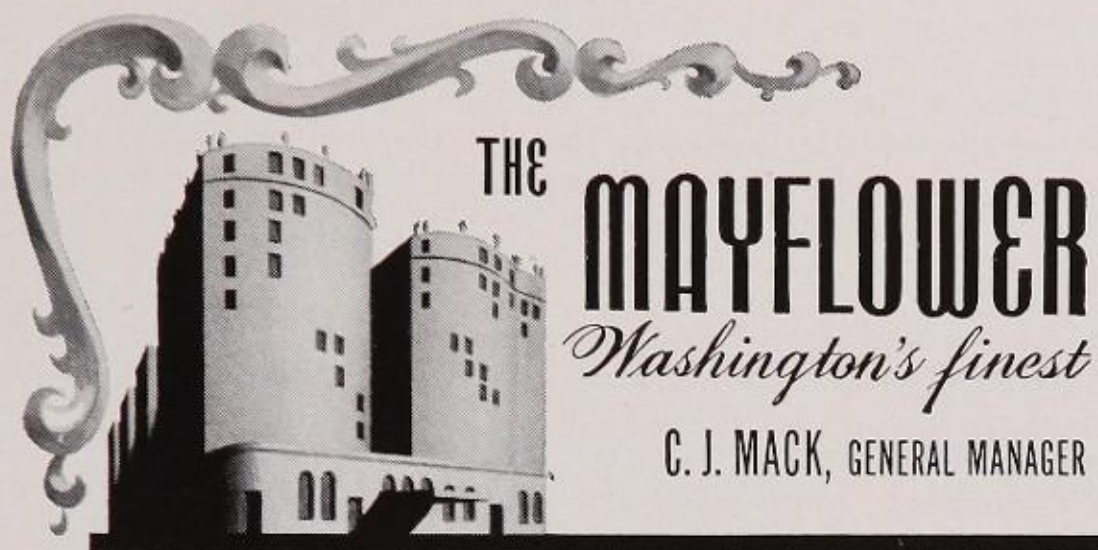

After we put our dictionaries back again, we turn to page 182, too. Never mind, 183. We stammer through a paragraph. The door opens. A Note From The Office is ushered in. There is a quick intake of breaths . . . creating a pure vacuum for the surrounding two blocks, and then dead silence (except for clicking knees and the sound of prayer being lifted). The note is for Ann Mayden. Ann sighs like a furnace (I don't know why it should be like a furnace, but all bonafide heroines do it), and leaves the room. The class returns to abnormal.

Once more the victims disperse and reassemble—this time to English Class, otherwise known as Ye Olde Death-Trappe. A few precious minutes are wasted taking roll. Mr. Bernie Bones is discovered missing.

"HMMMMMMMM," the teacher muses, "I wonder where our friend Mr. Bones can be."

A would-be "A" student aids with, "I saw him second period . . .," whereupon the informer is mashed in a torrent of blows delivered by Bernie's loyal supporters. When the smoke has cleared away, the teacher announces that, just as in the past six months, we will discuss Burke today.

"Before you can pass out of English 8, you must understand Burke. This speech, delivered on March 22, 1785, is important because . . . Mr. Jones, did you come to this class to sleep? You seem to think this is a biology class and we are studying sleeping sickness. For tomorrow, you will read paragraphs 11-185, and outline them in sentence form. I cannot emphasize the importance of English to you too strongly. It not only gives you a complete knowledge of . . . .

Unfortunately, we never learn just what it gives us a complete knowledge of, for the ole bell once more earns undying gratitude. When the gang gets together again, it is seated on the floor of the gym, and clad in such revealing costumes as to cause the instructors to wring their hands and sob quietly to themselves over our physiques and conditions of "health."

"All right, class!—Chest out, back straight, feet together, stomach in, head back—don't look so pained, Obiatt,—you won't stay that way permanently—a-one, two, three, four—50 pushups and you can go outside!!!

Eventually, this is given up, and we all creep out-of-doors.

"O.K., you kids—5 times around the track, and make it snappy."

Many bloody minutes later—if the stretcher bearers hold out—the class is "ready" to leave for the day. But feebly, though—but feebly.

Experiment Ridiculous

(With Apologies To Mrs. Stull)

Purpose: To write biographies of the esteemed (?) members of the senior class, otherwise known as the elite of Woodrow Wilson High School. (A ten-second silence will now be observed as an expression of deep respect toward that majestic institution of learning.)

Directions:

The materials consist of properly aged sheets of paper prepared especially through application of the three "P's" (patience, persuasion, and perseverance) from mimeographed forms traveling under the rather unexciting guise of questionnaires. You may use a copy of last year's Yearbook as a model for the style of writing. Your biographies should be clever and original, flavored with a generous sprinkling of colorful, spicy adjectives. (A minimum of four or five to the noun is required. We specify no limit, leaving the matter to your discretion. Of course, we take one slight precaution to protect our interests. A list of the authors' names is kept under close guard at all times. In case of a possible suit for libel—you'll be sorry!).

NOTE: EXERCISE EXTREME CARE IN HANDLING THESE PHRASES. HASTE OFTEN RESULTS IN THAT MOST PAINFUL MALADY, BOREDOM, LEADING TO THE ALWAYS FATAL "NO SALE."

Suggest (we use the term loosely, of course) you prepare at least two hundred of these literary masterpieces (?). Some, we trust, will appear in the publication; if not, they can certainly be used as a shining example of how not to write a biography.

Observe the reaction of unsuspecting innocents forced to listen to the products of your art. This is a test for sales power. This information should go the way of all tests—filed for future reference.

The accompanying diagram is designed to clarify the instructions so as to facilitate your solving such a difficult problem. (Should this confuse you still more, consult the nearest dictionary, then perhaps an encyclopedia or two. If all else fails, there's always Calvert Bridge!)

SOMEDAY BE WORLD FAMOUS FOR A SUPER TONIC FOR STRAIGHTENING
HAIR . . . . GOOD LUCK, GHASTLY!

Editor's Note the First: With a write-up like that, she'll need it!

Results:

Even after you've flattered everyone beyond all traces of recognition (and believe us, that was work with a capital "W"!), the net result is: NO FRIENDS, NO SENSE OF HUMOR, and worst of all, NO SALE!

Conclusion: You just can't win!

Editor's Note the Second: We didn't mean it, really!

Colony House prices for fine interpretation of Early American and 18th Century furniture are low the year round. You don't have to wait for sale periods. In fact, you will find our everyday prices even lower than sale prices elsewhere for corresponding qualities. Our neighborhood location, with resulting economies in overhead, make these definite savings possible.
